

Low Power FM stations should not take priority over existing FM translator service. KLOVE radio serves my community through FM translators, providing positive messages and music that I am glad to have my children listen to. It's a service unavailable through the commercial radio stations. If LPFM stations were given priority, our children would be listening to the nasty jokes and adult-level comments on the commercial stations. The positive voice that KLOVE provides is extremely valuable. People need to hear that there is a force for good in this world, that there are people who care about them. KLOVE has a unique way to bring us together - please don't throw it away for an unknown value in LPFM.
